

Biography for Scott Alvord

Shorter Bio:

Scott Alvord is an entrepreneur, business consultant, and former Roseville City Councilmember with a passion for economic development and mentorship. As CEO of Advanced Development Concepts, LLC, he transformed a college startup into a business consulting firm with multiple subsidiaries, including a publishing company, software company, and business mastermind group that he's led for over 16 years.

Scott served two full terms on the Roseville City Council (terming out in Dec 2024), receiving federal, state, and local honors for his contributions. He focused on strengthening regional economics to support long-term community prosperity.

An award-winning entrepreneur and civic leader, Scott has received multiple accolades, including Style Magazine's Favorite Businessperson and Favorite Civic Leader, as well as recognition as "Local Hero" in the Press Tribune's Best-of-the-Best Awards for his efforts organizing the 2,000-person Roseville Volunteer Force during the pandemic.

Currently, he serves as president of RPAL (Roseville Police Activities League) and RCONA (Roseville Coalition of Neighborhood Associations) and sits on nonprofit boards for Golden Sierra Job Agency and the Roseville Public Safety Foundation.

Scott holds an MBA from Sacramento State University and a Bachelor's in Computer Science from Pacific Union College. He has authored three books, continues to consult and mentor professionals, and remains active in community development.

Married to Karen, his college sweetheart, for 39 years, Scott is a proud father of seven and grandfather to 14.

Biography for Scott Alvord

Longer Bio:

Scott Alvord is a seasoned business leader, entrepreneur, and former elected official dedicated to economic development and community growth. As the CEO of Advanced Development Concepts, LLC, he transformed his college startup into a business consulting firm with multiple subsidiaries, including a publishing company, software company, and business mastermind group that he's led for over 16 years.

Scott's passion for business leadership extends to his role as president of the Advanced Business Roundtable, providing mentorship and strategic guidance to professionals. His entrepreneurial spirit was evident in his ownership of A Dash of Panache, an award-winning restaurant he successfully operated for over a decade while he served a 9-year stint as the President of the Downtown Roseville Merchants, Inc.

Beyond his business ventures, Scott has been deeply engaged in civic leadership. Elected to the Roseville City Council in 2016 and re-elected in 2020 (terming out in Dec 2024), he focused on strengthening regional economics to solidify the future of the community while providing an unprecedented level of engagement and responsiveness to residents and business owners. His contributions earned formal proclamations from federal, state, county, and city entities, recognizing his commitment to public service.

His work in business excellence extended to his tenure as a Senior Examiner for the California chapter of the national Malcolm Baldrige Quality Awards program, where he led evaluation teams assessing top-performing organizations across industries.

Scott has received multiple accolades, including being voted "Favorite Local Businessperson" and "Favorite Civic Leader" in Style Magazine's Readers Choice Awards, a two-time finalist for Gallina's Business Person of the Year, and recognition as "Local Hero" in the Press Tribune's Best-of-the-Best Awards for organizing the 2,000-person Roseville Volunteer Force during the pandemic.

Currently, Scott serves as the president of the Roseville Police Activities League (RPAL) and the Roseville Coalition of Neighborhood Associations (RCONA). He is also a board member of the Golden Sierra Job Agency and the Roseville Public Safety Foundation, continuing his dedication to civic engagement and economic development.

Scott holds an MBA from Sacramento State University and a Bachelor's in Computer Science from Pacific Union College. He has authored three books and remains active in public speaking, consulting, and mentorship.

Married to Karen, his college sweetheart, for nearly four decades, Scott is the proud father of seven children—some by birth, some through the adoption of relatives—and a grandfather to 14 grandchildren. His life's work reflects a commitment to leadership, mentorship, and fostering strong communities.